Notes for Guidance

(To be retained by the applicant)

1. What is Part III of the Register?

Part III (commonly called the Small Ships Register – SSR) is for ships, which want only simple registration; it does not register 'title' and you cannot register mortgages on this part of the Register.

It provides an inexpensive, simple registration, which proves the ship's nationality (a kind of passport). A Part III certificate may not be accepted in some foreign ports if you are using your ship for 'commercial purposes'; eg diving or chartering.

2. What is a small ship?

A small ship is one, which is less than 24 metres (79 feet), in overall length.

The following ships cannot be registered on Part III:

- those owned by a company
- those over 24 metres in length
- fishing or submersible vessels

3. Who may register a small ship?

A small ship may be registered if it is owned by one or more of the following persons who are ordinarily resident in the UK:

- (a) British Citizens
- (b) Persons who are nationals of a European Union or Economic Area country other than the United Kingdom and are established* in the UK
- (c) British Dependant Territories citizens; British Overseas citizens; persons who under the British Nationality Act 1991 and are British subjects; persons who under the Hong Kong (British Nationality) Order are British Nationals Overseas, and
- (d) Commonwealth citizens not falling within those paragraphs.

* Established – It is not sufficient to live in the UK to be 'established' in accordance with Articles 48 and 52 of the EU Treaty. To be 'established' a person must make an economic contribution to the UK by being the proprietor of a business, being employed, or having very recently retired from such employment, ie within the last 6 months. If you have any doubts about your 'establishment' you should consult the Registry.

4. What does 'ordinarily resident' mean?

For the purposes of registering a ship it means living and sleeping in the UK for a significant part of the year. A person may be considered to be ordinarily resident in the country in which they live for a period of, or periods which collectively amount to 185 days or more in a twelve month period. If you are resident in the UK for tax purposes, you will generally be regarded as resident for the purpose of registration.

5. Can my ship be registered on Part I and Part III?

Ships cannot be on more than one part of the Register at any one time. If you have Part I registration it is to your advantage to keep your ship registered on that Part rather than transfer it to the SSR. If you wish to transfer from one Part of the Register to another, it will be necessary to close the ship's current registration before the transfer can be made.

Further information can be obtained from:

Small Ships Register
Register of Shipping & Seamen
PO BOX 420
CARDIFF CF24 5XR
Tel: 029 20448800

6. How long does SSR registration last?

Registration on Part III of the Register lasts for 5 years. The date of expiry shows on the ship's certificate of registry. You may apply to renew the ship's registration up to 3 months before the certificate expires. Registration ceases immediately if a ship is sold or any details change which appear on the certificate of registry. Where this happens the registered owner must return the certificate with a brief explanation of the circumstances of any change. You must also notify the Registry of any change of address.

7. Ship Names

Ships will not be registered if they have undesirable or offensive names or which might cause confusion; eg if prefixed by FV or HMS. Names such as 'SOS', 'MAYDAY' or 'LIFEBOAT' will not be allowed. Ships must have a name before they can be registered.

8. Measuring the Ship

In most cases owners may measure the overall length of the ship themselves (see question 4 on the application form). 'Overall length' is the distance between the foreside of the foremost fixed structure and the aftside of the aftermost permanently fixed structure of the ship. The diagrams below show between which points on most ships the measurements should be made. On multi-hulled craft, the longest hull should be measured. If you are in difficulty or require advice on measuring craft of novel design, you may seek assistance from the Royal Yachting Association at: RYA House, Romsey Road, Eastleigh, SO50 9YA.

Where the ship is found to be 24 metres or a little more in overall length, it may still qualify for entry onto the Small Ships Register. You must have the Statement of Length at the end of the application form signed by a qualified naval architect or ships surveyor stating that the ship is less than 24 metres in length when measured in accordance with the formula contained in the Convention on Tonnage Measurements of Ships, 1969.
