Information and guidance

What is this leaflet about?

This leaflet explains how you can make a complaint about the service you have received from us. It gives details of how to make a complaint and tells you what we will do when we receive it.

This leaflet does not explain what to do if you disagree with a decision we have made about a child maintenance calculation. If you want to know more about appealing against our decisions, get a copy of How can I appeal against a child maintenance decision? (CSL307). See the back page for details.

In this leaflet we use some standard terms to talk about our services and the way we work. A glossary at the end of this leaflet explains them.

Important information about this leaflet

This leaflet is only a guide and does not cover every circumstance. We have done our best to make sure the leaflet is correct as of 12 April 2010, but it may not reflect changes to the law or our procedures after this date. You may wish to get independent advice before making financial decisions based on the leaflet.

About us

The Child Support Agency (CSA) is the Government's child maintenance service. It is provided by the Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission.

Our role is to make sure that parents who live apart from their children contribute towards their children's upkeep by paying child maintenance.

We use a standard process to work out how much child maintenance should be paid in each case and to manage the payments. We can take legal action if the right amount of money is not paid at the right time.

To get help or more information, visit our website www.csa.gov.uk or call us on 0845 713 3133 or 0845 713 8924 (textphone). For details of call charges, opening times and our Welsh-language helpline, see page 17.

If you want to make a family-based arrangement, rather than one through the CSA, contact Child Maintenance Options for impartial information and support. Visit their website at www.cmoptions.org or call them on 0800 988 0988 or 0800 988 9888 (textphone).

How do I complain about the service I get from the CSA?

You can usually sort out problems with our service by talking to the people dealing with your case. But if you are still not happy about the service you have received from us, you can make a complaint.

To make a complaint, you should first let the people dealing with your case know, either by phone or in writing. You can find their contact details on any letter we have sent you. Or you can e-mail your complaint to us by using the online complaints form in the 'Your case' section of our website at www.csa.gov.uk.

If you have a complaint about the service you have received from Child Maintenance Options, you should contact them. We do not deal with any complaints about Child Maintenance Options.

How do I complain about the service I get from the Child Support Agency?

What happens next?

The people dealing with your case at the time you make your complaint will look at the issues you have raised. They should respond to you within 15 days.

If you aren't satisfied with the way that the people dealing with your case have handled the issues you have raised, or if there has been an unreasonable delay, you can contact the Complaints Resolution Team direct by calling the phone number or writing to the address in the top right-hand corner of the last letter we sent you. Alternatively, you can send an e-mail using our on-line complaints form. You can find this in the 'Your case' section of our website at www.csa.gov.uk.

When the Complaints Resolution Team gets the complaint from you or the people dealing with your case, they will follow the complaints process on the next page. This formally begins our complaints process.

We aim to resolve all complaints, using this complaints process, within 40 working days from the date the complaint is received by the Complaints Resolution Team.

Stage 1

You contact our Complaints Resolution Team.

The team will let you know they have received your complaint within 2 working days.

They will try to sort out your complaint or agree how to sort it out within 15 working days.

If they think it may take more than 15 days to sort out a complaint, we will keep you regularly updated about progress and agree a timetable with you.

- If you are satisfied with the way your complaint has been sorted out, we won't take further action.
- If you are not satisfied with the way that your complaint has been sorted out, or you think there has been an unreasonable delay you can ask our Complaints Review Team to look at it.
Go to stage 2.

Stage 2

You can ask the Complaints Resolution Team to pass your complaint to the Complaints Review Team or you can contact them direct.

- If you are still not satisfied with the way your complaint has been sorted out, you can contact the Independent Case Examiner. See page 14 for details on how to do this.

They will let you know they have received your complaint within 2 working days.

They will try to sort out your complaint or agree how to sort it out within 15 working days.

If they think it may take more than 15 days to sort out a complaint, we will keep you regularly updated about progress and agree a timetable with you.

We describe these stages in more detail in the following pages.

How will the CSA deal with my complaint? (Stage 1)

Our Complaints Resolution Team tries to sort out the issues that the people previously dealing with your case couldn't settle. You can find the team's address on the letter we'll have sent you about how much child maintenance should be paid. You can either contact them direct or send an e-mail by using our online complaints form. You can find this in the 'Your case' section of our website at www.csa.gov.uk.

They will acknowledge your complaint by phone or e-mail within 2 working days of receiving it. If they don't have your phone number or e-mail address, they will acknowledge your complaint in writing. They will:

- deal with you in a polite and professional way
- treat your complaint seriously and keep it confidential
- put right any mistakes as quickly as possible, and
- tell you, within 15 working days, the outcome or progress of our investigations.

The Complaints Resolution Team settles most complaints within 15 working days. They will contact you to talk about the issues you have raised and agree how to sort them out. If they don't think they can sort out your complaint within 15 working days, they will try to agree a timetable with you.

If we have made a mistake, we will:

- apologise
- explain what went wrong and why, and
- make any changes needed to put it right.

Your suggestions

We are always pleased to receive suggestions to help us improve our services. If you have any comments or suggestions about how you think we could improve our services, please write to the Client Service Manager at the CSA office that is dealing with your case.

What happens if I'm not happy with the way my complaint was dealt with by the Complaints Resolution Team? (Stage 2)

If you are not satisfied with the way the Complaints Resolution Team handled your complaint, you can ask our Complaints Review Team to consider it. They will check to see if the complaint was dealt with properly and if anything else can be done to help.

You can contact our Complaints Review Team by:

- writing to the address given on the letter the Complaints Resolution Team will have sent you, or
- sending an e-mail through www.csa.gov.uk.

The Complaints Review Team will acknowledge your complaint by phone or e-mail within 2 working days of receiving it. If they don't have your phone number or e-mail address, they will acknowledge your complaint in writing.

What happens if I'm not satisfied with the way my complaint was handled by the CSA?

After you receive a response from the Complaints Review Team, if you still feel that we have not dealt with your complaint properly, you can write to the Independent Case Examiner.

The Independent Case Examiner is appointed by the Government to give an independent view on complaints about how we have handled a case. The service is free and it is not part of the CSA.

- You can ask your Member of Parliament (MP) to help you make a complaint to the Independent Case Examiner.
- Your MP can also ask the Parliamentary and Health Service Ombudsman to look at your complaint if it has been through our complaints process and you are still not satisfied with the way it has been handled. See page 15 for how to do this.

Before the Independent Case Examiner will accept your case, it must be satisfied that we have had the opportunity to deal with your complaint and that it has been through stages 1 and 2 of our complaints process. You should contact the Independent Case Examiner within 6 months of receiving a final reply from our Complaints Review Team.

If you want to know more about the Independent Case Examiner, get a copy of its leaflet The Independent Case Examiner's Office – our service and standards. See page 19 for details.

Can I get help to make my complaint?

If you would like some help in making a complaint about our service, you could do the following.

- Ask an organisation like Citizens Advice. Our website at www.csa.gov.uk has links to several other organisations you may find useful.
- Ask a solicitor. General advice may be available free of charge. Or, if you qualify, you may be able to get specific advice under the Community Legal Fund or other legal assistance schemes. A solicitor will be able to tell you if this applies to your case. If you are not entitled, you may have to pay all of the solicitor's costs.
- Speak to your Member of Parliament (MP).

Your MP can ask the Parliamentary and Health Service Ombudsman to look into your complaint. The Ombudsman would expect you to first raise the matter with us and allow us to sort out the problem if we can. They will not normally become involved in a complaint before you have taken your complaint through our complaints process, including, if appropriate, having the matter reviewed by the Independent Case Examiner.

If you want to know more about the Parliamentary and Health Service Ombudsman, it can send you a leaflet How to complain to the Ombudsman. See page 20 for details of the Ombudsman.

How do I complain about the service I get from the Child Support Agency?

Will I get compensation?

Your complaint about our service may show that we have treated you particularly badly. For example, we may have caused very long delays, made a serious mistake or given you incorrect information. This is called 'maladministration'.

In these situations, an apology may not be enough because you may have lost money through our action. We may be able to pay you compensation to make up for your loss. If appropriate, we'll treat this as part of handling your complaint.

However, there is no legal right to compensation.

We may also give you a small payment, called a consolatory payment, if our action or lack of action has caused you:

- serious inconvenience because we made the same mistakes more than once, or
- severe embarrassment or humiliation.

We'll also consider any evidence you give us that your health has suffered as a result.

We'll make separate decisions on whether we'll pay you compensation or a consolatory payment, based on the facts of each case. In some cases, we may pay both.

Where can I get more help and information?

If you want to know more about child maintenance and how we work it out, visit our website at www.csa.gov.uk. You can download all our leaflets from there.

If you would like to talk to someone about your case, you should call the number on the top right-hand corner of your most recent letter from us. That number will be for the office handling your case.

If you do not yet have a case with us or cannot find a recent letter, you can contact our national helpline. The person taking your call won't have your personal information so won't be able to answer questions on your case. However, they can help you with anything general to do with child maintenance. They will also be able to give you the phone number of the office handling your case if you want to ask specific questions.

You can call the national helpline on 0845 713 3133 from 8am to 8pm Monday to Friday and 9am to 5pm on Saturdays.

Please have your National Insurance number with you when you call.

We may record our phone calls to check our service and to train our employees.

How a child maintenance case can progress

This diagram shows you how a child maintenance case can progress. This leaflet covers part of the process at the highlighted stage.

Information and guidance

CSA can provide information on how the process works, what parents will need to do and what might be an acceptable amount of maintenance in their case.

Application

A case officially begins when a parent applies to us to set up child maintenance payments.

If there is a change in either parent's life that could affect the amount of child maintenance that should be paid, we can review your case – let us know.

How do I complain about the service I get from the Child Support Agency?

Gathering information and calculation

To work out the amount of child maintenance that should be paid, we need to gather important information. We ask both parents to provide certain information. When we have this, we will work out child maintenance.

Payment

The non-resident parent pays the agreed amount on the agreed dates and in the agreed way. This can be either direct to the parent with care, or to us. We then pass the payments on.

Enforcement

If the payments aren't made on time, we can take action.

Glossary

Child

For child maintenance purposes, a child is anyone under 16 or someone between 16 and 19 who:

- is not, nor has ever been, married or in a civil partnership, and
- is in full-time non-advanced education.

However, if child benefit is still being received, someone under 19 can still be regarded as a child for child maintenance purposes even if they are not in full-time non-advanced education.

Child maintenance

Money the non-resident parent pays to the parent with care to help pay for their child's everyday living costs.

Complaints Resolution Team

The Complaints Resolution Team try to sort out the issues the CSA team dealing with your case couldn't settle. They also look at complaints about the way someone who works for us has dealt with a case.

Complaints Review Team

The Complaints Review Team look at complaints from people who are not happy about how the Complaints Resolution Team dealt with the matter. They check to see if the complaint was dealt with properly and to see if anything else can be done to help.

How do I complain about the service I get from the Child Support Agency?

Independent Case Examiner

This is a free service that looks into complaints about how we have handled a case.

Non-resident parent

The parent who the child does not normally live with.

Parent with care

The parent or carer who the child normally lives with and who therefore pays for most of the child's everyday living costs. In some cases this can be a grandparent, guardian or other family member – who is then known as the 'person with care', rather than the parent with care.

Parliamentary and Health Service Ombudsman

The Parliamentary and Health Service Ombudsman carries out independent investigations into complaints about UK government departments and their agencies, and the NHS in England. Complaints to the Parliamentary and Health Service Ombudsman must be made via an MP.

Information in CSA leaflets is also available in other languages, in large print, in Braille and on audio cassette.

You can get any of our leaflets:

- by phone on 0845 713 3133 (the line is open from 8am to 8pm Monday to Friday and 9am to 5pm on Saturdays)
- by textphone on 0845 713 8924, or
- from our website at www.csa.gov.uk.

Where textphone numbers are provided, these are for people who find it hard to speak or hear clearly. If you do not have a textphone, some libraries or citizens advice bureaux may have one. Textphones do not receive text messages from mobile phones.
